

Radicalisation to violent extremism, fixation and grievance-fuelled violence: Navigating privacy, confidentiality and ethical challenges

Dr Ines Rio

General Practitioner, Vic

Ines' clinical work is as a general practitioner at a community health centre and as a GP obstetrician at The Royal Women's Hospital.

Her desire to reform and improve systems to better meet the need of patients has led to her involvement in a wide array of strategic, advisory, planning, regulatory and leadership roles. She is currently the Chair of the North-Western Melbourne PHN, on the Board of Medical Practitioners Board of Victoria, Chair of AMA Victoria Section of General Practice and Medical Advisor for the City of Melbourne.

Ines is a champion of integrated, quality, effective, equitable, efficient, sustainable and acceptable service delivery between different health care professionals and sectors, capacity building in primary care and providing effective primary care solutions to meet the needs of those whose health needs are currently not adequately met.

Professor Alfred Allan

Clinic Psychologist, WA

Professor Alfred Allan qualified in law and psychology and is a registered psychologist with clinical and forensic endorsements in Australia. He has taught law, psychology and professional ethics in Law, Medical and Psychology Schools in South Africa and Australia.

He was a member of the inaugural Psychologists Board of Australia and is a director and the chair of the Standing Committee on Ethics of the International Association for Applied Psychology (IAAP) and a Fellow of the Australian Psychological Society (APS). He is a past president of the Psychology and Law Division of the IAAP, Australian and New Zealand Association for Psychiatry, Psychology and Law and a past chair of the APS College of Forensic Psychologists, the Ethics Committee of the APS, and of the Working Group that reviewed the Australian Psychological Society's Code of Ethics in 2005-2007 and 2017-2019. He is an associate editor of Psychiatry, Psychology and Law and a member of the editorial boards of Philosophy, Ethics, and Humanities in Medicine and Ethics and Behaviour.

Radicalisation to violent extremism, fixation and grievance-fuelled violence: Navigating privacy, confidentiality and ethical challenges

Dr Danny Sullivan

Psychiatrist, VIC

Danny Sullivan is a Consultant Forensic Psychiatrist; Executive Director of Clinical Services at the Victorian Institute of Forensic Mental Health (Forensicare), where he has worked since 2004.

He completed a medical degree at the University of Melbourne, and holds three Masters degrees: in Health and Medical Law (Melbourne); Bioethics (Monash); and Management (McGill). He is a Fellow of the Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists, Fellow of the Royal College of Psychiatrists (UK) and Associate Fellow in the Royal Australasian College of Medical Administrators.

In addition to his longstanding fulltime public mental health roles, he holds honorary academic appointments at the University of Melbourne and Swinburne University of Technology, and provides medico-legal assessments around Australia in criminal, coronial and regulatory matters.

Facilitator: Professor Mark Creamer

Clinical Psychologist, Vic

Professor Mark Creamer is a clinical and consulting psychologist with over 30 years' experience in the field of posttraumatic mental health.

Mark is internationally recognised for his work in the field; providing policy advice, training and research consultancy to government and non-government organisations, with the aim of improving the recognition, prevention and treatment of psychological problems following stressful life events.

Mark is a Professorial Fellow in the Department of Psychiatry at The University of Melbourne, and has an impressive research record with over 180 publications.

Mark is an accomplished speaker and has given numerous invited addresses at national and international conferences.